Importance: High

Thank you all for being so flexible. It was just last night that I realized that the EPA Administrator was going to be in Oregon on Thursday, so we have rearranged things so that we could get our briefing & discussion done on that day.

Sen Wyden & Sen Merkley & the Congressman will have a room in the our building 911 NE 11th St in Portland, Conference Room A

The purpose of this briefing is so Senator Merkley, Congressman Blumenauer and I can gather answers from our understandably concerned constituents to the many questions they have sent us about the federal regulatory role with these airborne heavy metals. We strongly believe this briefing will allow us to respond with better information to those constituents' public health concerns over the hotspots of these metals and also be of great assistance in working together on potential solutions in federal emissions standards as well as on improved air quality monitoring, monitoring and research.

Dennis is obviously very well versed in these issues, and we would appreciate any technical people that you would like to include. Please let me know names of attendees & we'll have tent cards made. Thank you again

The press may attend this meeting.
